By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.
Gallaudet and Catholic University met today at Georgetown Field in their annual gridiron battle, and before the final whistle sounds one of the best football contests of the season should be witnessed. The kick-off comes promptly at 2:45 o'clock.

Though the Brooklanders are entering their final game favorites, Gallaudet refuses steadfastly to believe defeat its certain portion. C. has shown some excellent football at times this season, but the Kendall Green eleven has improved wonderfully in the past few weeks and it would not be a surprise to have a close score today.

These two home teams are about equal in weight, averaging around 200 pounds. Catholic University is heavier in the line and lighter in the backfield than Gallaudet. The Brooklanders have a light, speedy set of backs who have done sterling work all season, while Gallaudet has a heavier group of veterans. The Kendall Green team is generally more experienced than its opponents.

In Captain Martin, Gallaudet has one of the best forwards in this section. His work has featured every game, and Killion, the C. U. man to face him, should have a troublesome time in the right tackle for Gallaudet, is another capable performer, heavy, fast and aggressive.

Gallaudet's backs are heavy individuals who have played a lot of football and are able to endure a pounding. Marshall was an all-South Atlantic star last year, but absence from practice this season may interfere with his work today. Catholic University also boasts a star in Captain Murphy, at center. His excellent play is suffering from a week's absence, but he is expected to last through the game. Greer, former Eastern High School wonder, is lining slightly, but is expected to be in the contest. He may go to center in case Captain Murphy is injured again.

Behind the line, C. U. has a great dodging halfback in Frank Rogers, and a capable punter and dropkicker in J. Butler. Rogers has been injured frequently this season, but is expected to play himself today. J. Butler's punting should count for much in the Brooklanders' exhibition.

Fordham Has Hard Task To Beat Villanova Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Fordham today has a hard task on its hands, setting the strong Villanova eleven that defeated Army. Villanova has in Metzger one of the best kickers in the East, and Captain Dunn warns the students that the Maroon will be fortunate to win. Yule, who was injured last week, has recovered sufficiently to take his place in the line-up for Fordham.

Not since this has Fordham defeated Villanova, which has won the last three annual Thanksgiving battles on the Maroon field. By defeating the Army, after College had won the victory, Villanova first attracted attention this season and the record of the Pennsylvania eleven from then on showed the victory to be the best eleven in Villanova history. Meeting Fordham after a ten days' rest and in perfect condition, a Villanova victory would not be entirely unexpected. Fordham is resolved to carry the fight to the opponents by open style of attack.

Win Turkeys.

Five patrons of Pete Maloney's South-east Alley are today having a turkey dinner at the expense of Pete. Miller, Keye, August, Frye, and Kalkreuth were winners in the turkey tournament, which closed last night. The scores were 101, 100, 99, 98, and 97, respectively.

GEORGETOWN ELEVEN AIDED BY WET FIELD

St. Louis U. Hopes to Keep Hill-toppers From Running Away With Contest.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 25.—With a heavy field, Georgetown's superior weight is expected to prove of tremendous advantage over the St. Louis University eleven today. There is comparatively little betting on the result, but here and there wagers have been made that the Easterners will not score more than thirty points. Georgetown's squad, fraternized with a number of alumni here last night, Charles R. Cox, graduate manager of athletics, and Physical Director John D. O'Reilly acting as a welcoming committee of two. The Washington athletes seem generally taller and heavier than the local players.

Ward Leads Brookfeds; Ganzel Signs Players

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Brooklyn Federal League club, held yesterday morning, George S. Ward was elected president to succeed the late Robert R. Ward. George Ward was recently elected as vice president of the Federal League. The other officers of the club were elected at a meeting to be held some time next month.

Chaney Is Now After Contest With Kilbane

BALTIMORE, Nov. 25.—George Chaney today issued a challenge to Johnny Kilbane, world's featherweight champion, for a twenty-round bout for the title. Chaney last night knocked out Donny Reynolds in the second round. A word with Kilbane was unable to stop Reynolds in six rounds at Philadelphia. Kilbane hit the foot twice in the opening round, the first saving him from a knockout. Chaney's punches are aimed at the face and head. A fight left to the stomach called Reynolds in the second round.

Cornell Is Favorite In Game With Penn

Quakers Start Today's Contest at Philadelphia Weaker Than Any Eleven At Ithaca For Twenty-Three Years.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—Cornell, the only under-rated football team among the "big six" and Penn, the tail-end, will clash this afternoon at Franklin Field. The Quakers are overwhelmingly the favorite. The Penn team that will start the game is the weakest that ever confronted the Cornell eleven in 23 seasons. On the other hand, the Quakers have never come to Philadelphia with a cleaner record and looking so much like a dreadful monster.

In view of the records of both teams, logic seems to indicate the Quakers will be simply overwhelmed. The Cornell squad, however, is not over confident, and will enter the game with memories of several phenomenal reversals of Penn's form, due entirely to the Quakers' unquenched spirit. Cornell figures to clinch her right to the eastern championship title, and that fact alone indicates the Quakers will not take any chances on the outcome.

The Quakers have beaten Gettysburg, Oberlin, Williams, Bucknell, Harvard, Virginia Poly, Michigan and Washington and Lee in turn. In these eight games the big Red team has piled up 262 points to its opponents' 41. Twenty-one of the 41 points scored against Cornell were made by Washington and Lee. This was Cornell's final game preparation for today's contest.

Pennsylvania, on the other hand, has had a rugged year on the gridiron. The Red and Blue has played nine games. Red State, Pittsburgh, Lafayette, and Dartmouth have beaten the Quakers. The Michigan-Penn contest, to be held some time next month, in a scoreless tie. Penn has scored 10 points in 10 games. The Michigan-Penn contest, to be held some time next month, in a scoreless tie. Penn has scored 10 points in 10 games.

ALL-STAR SOLDIERS MEETING VIGILANTS

Thanksgiving Day Football Game At Local Park Expected to Attract Many.

Joe Oliver is today storing his feature game of the season, as far as out-of-town teams are concerned. The All-Star Soldiers from Fort Huachuca and Washington face the Vigilants at Fifteenth street and Florida avenue today at 3 o'clock, and it is safe to say that the old park will be filled to capacity.

With a view to winning today's contest and repeating the process at Youngstown, Ohio, next Sunday, Coach Davis has put his charges through some of the hardest scrimmages that they have received this year. He has encouraged his team as being in the best of physical strength this morning, and remarked that the weight of the soldiers is the only element which will beat his team.

The line-up of the two teams will be as follows:

Vigilants Position Army Stars
Eckendorf R. E. MacDonald
Lester R. T. Matthews
Taylor R. G. Ferris
Bryan Center King
James R. G. Jones
Burns Wap. L. T. O'Neil
Kellie L. E. Immel
O'Brien W. H. Schuler
Farmer R. H. Coleman
Derby L. H. Savage
Carroll F. G. Sells

As an evidence of the increasing interest in basketball in Washington this season, four regularly organized leagues are already playing, as well as many strong independent teams. The first league to start was the P. M. Sigma Fraternity League, composed of young men of Sunday schools of nearly every denomination and composed of 100 teams, one of which hails from Rockville, Md.

Large and enthusiastic crowds have been in attendance at all of the games, which are played in the parish hall of the Church of the Advent, Second and U streets northwest, and all of the games have been hard fought and well played. Two games are played every Tuesday night, the first beginning at 8 o'clock.

The following gives the standing of the teams to date. Pi. Rho and Alpha, of Maryland, have yet to lose a game, while Sigma has won two of the three games played to date.

Team W. L. A.
Pi 2 0 1.000
Rho 2 0 1.000
Alpha (Md.) 2 1 .667
Sigma 2 1 .667
Mu 1 3 .250
Chi 2 2 .500
Gamma 0 3 .000

Think Syracuse Will Trim Montana Easily

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 25.—With the Syracuse University eleven outweighing the Montana University players ten to twelve pounds to a man, Coach O'Neill for Syracuse, predicted an easy victory here for his team. Coach Nelson for Montana, said he was confident of victory, despite the fact Syracuse backers were laying even money that their team would win by forty points.

Wrestle to a Finish.
ROSTON, Mass., Nov. 25.—Alex Abern, the giant Finn titholder, and Charles Cutler, the big Chicago mat artist, will wrestle to a finish at Mechanics' building tonight for the Gracero-Roman championship of the world. Both men are ripe for the stiffest kind of punishment, and a scintillating battle is expected. Abern is the favorite, but there is plenty of action in store for the night, and in comparison with the Gracero-Roman wrestler has excellent chances of capturing the title.

MARYLAND AGGIES IN BATTLE FOR TITLE

College Park Eleven Has Slight Edge Over Team Coached By Charlie Brickley.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 25.—The Maryland State football championship rests on the outcome of today's big game at Homewood Field between Johns Hopkins and the Maryland Aggies. Although there is little choice between the teams, the Aggies have whatever slight edge there is to be found. The College Park eleven is more versatile than Hopkins, but the team coached by Charlie Brickley, the old Harvard star, has a wonderful attack when Brooks or Hoffman carry the ball.

Hopkins depends largely upon a stone-wall defense and a line-plunging attack. Hoffman's drop-kicking is also a factor in Hopkins' work, and if he can get within scoring distance of the Aggies' goal he is almost sure to chalk up three points for his side.

Half of the $1,000 pool raised by the College Park students to back the Aggies was covered last night, and today the remainder was covered by Johns Hopkins aviators.

The eleventh-hour shift of Liebenow from tackle to end is a good move, and should strengthen the Black and Blue. The big fellow will, of course, be missed at tackle, but O'Connell has played the position before and can be depended upon to be in there fighting all the time, while Lieby will cause lots of trouble when the Aggie backs start round his end. He can catch forward passes with considerable skill.

The line-up of the two teams will be as follows:

Line-up Position Aggies
Liebenow L. E. Hill
Parade L. T. Quinn
Marshall L. G. Murrell
Primrose Center Williams
Harley R. G. Kishner
O'Connell R. E. Jones
Fulton R. E. Derrick
Howers Q. B. Knott
Brooks L. E. Hart
Brooks R. H. Shank
Brooks F. B. Shank
